During this year, the seminar Nurturing the love of reading in babies/Inrawmu t-trabi jaqraw is being held by the National Literacy Agency both on a face-to-face level as well as online. This seminar is free of charge and is held in collaboration with Parentcraft Malta.

Each seminar consists of approximately a 90-minute discussion held weekly or fortnightly at the National Curriculum Centre, Hamrun, or online and it is intended for prospective parents, parents of babies up to eight months old, as well as for grandparents who will be, or are in charge of babies.

The aim of the seminar is to consolidate the linguistic skills of our children from an early age, as well as to give practical tips on how to talk to babies and how to introduce them to books. A free literacy resource pack is given after the discussion.
